PRE-REGISTRATION

Pre-register by calling the Continuing Education Office nearest you. Designate which class you would like to take and leave your name, address, and phone number. If you need to cancel enrollment in class, call prior to class meeting.

REGISTRATION

You will pay and complete registration forms during the first class session. Be sure to bring your Social Security number and proper fees to the first class.

REGISTRATION FEES

Registration fees are due at the time of registration. Students are not enrolled until all registration fees are paid. Registration fees, supplies fees, technology fees, insurance fees, and book fees, if required, are listed with each course listing.

ELIGIBILITY

Admission is open to adults who are at least 18 years old and who are not enrolled in public school. Sixteen to 18-year-olds may enroll in some courses, when space is available and pending proper permission. Students under 18 years of age may enroll in summer classes specifically for the younger student.

Only individuals enrolled may attend class. Continuing Education Units (CEUs) of credit are available.

COURSE REPETITIONS

Effective Sept. 1, 1993, the NC Community College System established a Course Repetition Policy requiring students, including senior citizens, who take occupational extension courses more than twice within a five-year period, to pay the full cost of the course. This provision is waived if course repetition is required by standards governing the certification or licensing program in which the student is enrolled. Students may enroll in community service/personnel enrichment courses as many times as necessary to accomplish their individual educational/training goals, provided they continue to show progress, do not prohibit others from participating, are willing to pay fees and do not violate policies of the NC Community College System.

CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDIT

For occupational extension classes, Continuing Education Units (CEUs) are allowed. One CEU may be given for each 10 contact hours of participation in class.

REFUND POLICY

Registration fee refunds are granted only under the following circumstances:

- A student who officially withdraws from an extension class(es) prior to the first class meeting shall be eligible for a 100 percent refund. Also, a student is eligible for a 100 percent refund if an applicable class fails to "make" due to insufficient enrollment.
- After the respective class begins a 75-percent refund shall be made upon the request of the student if the student officially withdraws from the class prior to or on the 10-percent point of the scheduled hours of the class. Note: This rule is applicable regardless of the number of times the class meets or the number of hours the class is scheduled to meet.
- A 100-percent refund shall be made if the student officially withdraws from a contact hour class prior to the first day of class of the academic semester or term or if the college cancels the class. A 75-percent refund shall be made if the student officially withdraws from a contact hour class on or before the tenth calendar day of the class.
- Self-supporting classes are not eligible for refunds.

DISCLAIMER

The classes presented in this publication should not be considered a contract between SCC and any student. Changes or errors may occur for various reasons. A minimum number of students may be required before a class can be conducted. Pre-registered students will be contacted if changes or class cancellation is necessary.

SCC SECURES MORE THAN $1.5 MILLION IN GRANT FUNDING

As general manager of ConMet, Chris Davis has plenty to be excited about these days.

The Golden Leaf Foundation and Duke Energy recently funded a trio of advanced manufacturing training grants, which combined are worth $1.5 million, to Southwestern Community College and its partners.

The funding has ensured that ConMet and other manufacturers throughout western North Carolina can train their employees on the latest technology for years to come.

But there's one aspect of all these developments that excites Davis even more.

"The greatest benefit is going to be for people we've not even met yet," Davis said last Friday when Golden LEAF officially presented a grant check totaling more than $850,000 for the Community Assistance Initiative - the first of two grants from that organization - to SCC, Swain County and ConMet officials.

"Think about the kids coming through high school right now who are wondering what they're going to do with their lives," Davis added. "They have an option to get more technical training right here. That's going to allow us to stay here five, 10, 15, 20 years or longer."

At Friday's check presentation, Golden LEAF vice president Patricia Cabe announced another grant application from SCC will be funded for Essential Skills for $470,000. SCC's portion of $220,000 is for advanced manufacturing training equipment, which will be installed in the Swain County Regional Business Education and Training Center.

The Duke Energy Foundation grant funds of $250,000 will help equip SCC's Jackson Campus for certificate, diploma and degree programs in computer engineering technology, electronics/electrical technology and robotics.

Lynda Parlett, SCC's director of institutional development, wrote the applications incorporating Swain County as a key partner in the first grant. Community partners throughout Swain, Jackson and Macon Counties include ConMet, DuoTech Services, TekTone, Franklin Tubular, Jackson Paper, Caterpillar, Hometex, Shaw Industries and Tri-County Community College. Tri-County, incidentally, will receive the remaining $250,000 from the second (essential skills) grant from Golden LEAF.

Don Tomas, president of SCC, said the three grants mark the first three phases in an effort to close skills gaps identified by area industries.

"We're excited about the partnerships we've created and communication lines we've opened," Tomas said. "Receiving these grants is a game-changer for SCC and our service area."

SCC'S SMALL BUSINESS COMPETITION: EVERYONE WINS

The way Tonya Snider sees it, there were no bad outcomes for participants in the Dillsboro and Macon County Business Plan competitions.

The winning business plan yielded $5,000, but even aspiring entrepreneurs who walked away realizing they need to start over saved themselves a countless amount of money and aggravation.

"Some of our students will go out and have a lot of success with the business they've been planning through our series of seminars, but others won't start the business they had been planning," said Snider, who oversaw the learning sessions at Southwestern Community College's Macon Campus. "Either way, they're coming out better than if they'd not come here and figured out whether their business plan was feasible."

"Once you're in business, mistakes are a lot more painful," Snider added, "so it's good to figure out if your business idea makes sense – and the right way to do it."

Roughly 20 aspiring entrepreneurs regularly attended the free weekly sessions at SCC's Macon Campus. They covered topics ranging from "Am I Entrepreneurial Material?" and "Business Simulation" to "Marketing Mix" and "Financials for Small Business."

Organized by SCC's Small Business Center, the series was a result of the collaboration between the Dillsboro/WCU Partnership Committee and SCC. They worked through real-life scenarios and learned how to make their business ideas come to life.

John Faulk of Sylva found the process useful even though he's been running his own businesses for more than 15 years.

"Working in the catering business, I've noticed a need to move people in groups – either from the airport to the hotel they're staying in, or from the hotel to the location where they're having an event," said Faulk, 62, who runs B & Al's Grill in Sylva. "My business idea is for a small transportation company that could move between 10 and 100 people from point 'A' to point 'B' in Macon and Jackson counties.

"Going through these seminars has allowed me to review the nuts and bolts of what goes into a business plan," Faulk added. "You always have to evolve. The economy changes. You need to be looking at where trends are going. These seminars have emphasized for me that the key is relationships. You make sure your clients are getting what they want, a wonderful experience – which they're predisposed to anyway – then it's only going to help you grow your business."

Introduction to Storytelling: (14 hrs.) Storytelling has been a form of communication throughout the history of mankind. People love to hear and tell stories. Storytelling is great entertainment, yet it has a purpose, too. We tell stories to children to introduce them to the world of literature. In many families, tales about family history and ancestors are passed down from generation to generation through storytelling. Many public speakers tell stories as part of their presentations. They find that a well-told story will attract listeners' attention and can emphasize or illustrate a point. Humorous stories told about yourself in certain circumstances can not only favorably draw your audience to you as a person, but also teach how to not take yourself too seriously. In this workshop, you will first learn to write the story, to speak the story, arouse emotion, share values, and more. With the skills achieved, you can choose to entertain, learn to better illustrate storytelling in a class setting, make better speeches and at the same time learn to face your fear of public speaking, or to simply learn how to write and pass on your family stories. Self-Supporting.

Writing From The Heart I: Advice – Personal Experience – Protest and Controversy – Essays and Sketches – Inspiration – Nostalgia – Humor: (12 hrs.) So what does writing from the heart mean? It's the story you want to tell, a story you have to share with the world. And it's probably one of the easiest article types to write in terms of research because you are your research. In this class, you will learn how to write something that makes readers cry out, "Hey, that's me! That's what I think. That's how I feel!" and at the same time offer hope and help. The knowledge acquired is something all can use in creative writing. The writers strive to have at least one completed work by the end of the series. Self-Supporting.

153 EARN GED® DIPLOMAS FROM SOUTHWESTERN COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Wearing her cap and gown for Southwestern Community College's GED® graduation ceremony, Tonya Hensley grinned nervously while recalling the moment she decided to turn her life around.

Her son, Calvin, had come to her one evening asking for help with his homework at their home in Whittier. Tonya had dropped out of Cherokee High years ago as a teenager, so she simply had no way to help Calvin with his studies.

"I can't wait until I turn 16 so I can drop out of school," Calvin said.

"No, you're not dropping out," his mother replied.

That's when the son laid down his trump card: "Why not? You did."

So Tonya Hensley made a deal with all three of her kids (Calvin, now 16; Tiffany 13; Camille 11): If she went back and earned her GED®, they all had to stay in school. It wasn't easy, but the 33-year-old worked her way through preparatory classes then passed all elements of her GED® last fall and officially received her diploma on Jan. 16.

Her family, including husband Josh Banks, were part of an overflow crowd that turned out for the ceremony at SCC's Burrell Building.

Hensley is currently enrolled in spring classes at SCC as she decides between the college's culinary and substance abuse treatment programs.

"I basically did it for my children," Hensley said, fighting back tears. "It's been really hard because my mom has cancer. She's had four knee surgeries and two back surgeries."

Hensley's dedication impressed her instructors.

"I feel like she's overcome a lot," said Katie Ross, who along with Rebecca Patterson teaches GED® preparation courses for Southwestern on the Qualla Boundary. "It wasn't easy, but she came because she wanted to set an example for her kids. This is not the end of her education; it's the beginning. She's one who really wants to do more."

Hensley's was one of many stories of resilience and determination on display at the graduation ceremony. One-hundred-fifty-three students earned their GED® diplomas through SCC in the fall, and 39 of them donned caps and gowns for the commencement event.

One of the oldest participants was 67-year-old Robert Squirrell of Whittier. He'd gone through the 11th grade before dropping out to start working as a rock/brick mason. He now has a daughter, four granddaughters, three grandsons and a great grandson.

Surrounded by family, he grew emotional when asked about the evening's significance.

"I'm speechless," he said. "It means I can tell my grandchildren to get their education."

Devonne Jimison, GED coordinator at SCC, said: "As you can see from these stories, it is never too late to achieve your goals in life. Contact us today and begin the process of becoming one of our 2014 graduates."

SCC has become a certified Pearson Vue Test Center and will continue to offer classes to prepare individuals to take the 2014 GED test.

For more information about the educational opportunities programs at SCC, contact Jimison at 828.339.4486 or devonnej@southwesterncc.edu.

General Education Development (GED) Testing Information

Southwestern Community College is an official Pearson Vue Testing Center offering the new 2014 GED test. The new assessment will continue to provide adults the opportunity to earn a high school credential, but it goes further by measuring career-and college-readiness skills that are the focus of today's curriculum and tomorrow's success. Four content areas—literacy, mathematics, science, and social studies—will measure a foundational core of knowledge and skills that are essential for career and college readiness.

Individuals receiving a total passing score of 150 on each test are awarded a High School Equivalency Certificate by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction. This certificate is generally accepted on the same basis as a high school diploma when making application for employment, seeking a job promotion or applying for admission into a college or university.

For more information, call 339.4272 or 339.4486.

The Jerry Sutton Public Safety Training Center (PSTC) is a division of Southwestern Community College (SCC). SCC-PSTC is located within the Macon County Industrial Park, on Highway 64-West. The facility is primarily dedicated to coordinating Public Safety Training Programs (EMS, Fire/Rescue, and Law Enforcement) to all agencies within the SCC service area and beyond.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICES

Pre-registration is required for all EMS certification courses. Courses may also be canceled due to insufficient enrollment. For more information or to enroll in EMS training contact Todd Doster at 828.306.7044 or email tdoster@southwesterncc.edu.

Medical Responder to Emergency Medical Technician "Bridge" Course: This course will be for currently credentialed Emergency Medical Responders who desire to advance to the Emergency Medical Technician level. The course times and meeting days are to be determined. Tentative start date for the course is May 12. The course will meet at SCC-PSTC.

Law Enforcement & First Response Tactical Casualty Care: LEFR-TCC teaches public safety first responders including police, other law enforcement officers, firefighters and other first responders the basic medical care interventions that will help save an injured responder's life until EMS practitioners can safely enter a tactical scene. It combines the principles of PHTLS and TCCC, and meets the recommendations of the Hartford Consensus document and TECC guidelines.

Southwestern's EMT-Intermediate students consistently post 100, a pass rate on state exams. Six students successfully completed their course of training for credentialing as EMT-Intermediate on November 26. Each of these students was also successful in their first attempt at the N.C. OEMS credentialing exam. This is a considerable accomplishment as the pass rate on this exam averages 65% across the state. This was also the first course in North Carolina since the implementation of the new EMS Education Standard that was approved by the Office of Emergency Medical Services to allow students to test for National Certification at the Advanced EMT level. We are very proud of each of these students and thank each of them for their hard work and dedication to the communities they will proudly be serving. We also wish to thank each of the instructors who helped prepare these public safety professionals.
