Let's talk money!

Now is the time to be gathering the necessary information/documents which allow you to complete your FAFSA for the 2012-2013 academic year.

Every financial aid office has an early bird application deadline. The purpose of this deadline is to give you (the student) a time frame for optimal financial aid service and support. And ultimately, meeting the early bird deadline (assuming you qualify for aid) is your best guarantee that you will not have to pay any money out-of-pocket to cover your tuition, fees and book expenses for next year.

Lucky for you, SCC's financial aid office has a dedicated student service financial aid hour every Monday from 3:00-4:00 in the testing room located on the first floor of the Student Services/admissions area in Balsam. If you need assistance in completing your FAFSA, any Monday from 3:00-4:00 is the perfect time to get your questions answered.

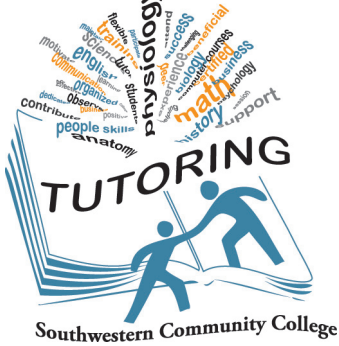

Securing funds for college seems to make everything better. I encourage you to start the process today!

Onward and upward!
Cheryl
